WHERE: Theatre Room, Main Branch, Lethbridge Public Library – 810 5 Ave. S.

Writing on Stone/ Áísinaí'pi Provincial Park is a sacred and significant place. 2018 was a monumental year for the park as it was officially nominated as a UNESCO World Heritage Site. This year we were also able work more closely University of Lethbridge students on a variety of archaeological projects including: the Rock Art Monitoring Program, artefact cataloging, and a spatial analysis of the rock art. This presentation will look back on the projects undertaken in 2018 and showcase each of the students work. We will complete the presentation by providing an update on the world heritage nomination and by looking forward to the year ahead.

Please note that this meeting will also be our AGM! Some of our executive would like to return to their current positions but we are on the lookout for a new person or two join us! I've made a (hopefully) handy chart to show you where things stand at the moment.

Any member of the Executive can be reached via the email address: arky.lethbridge@gmail.com as we all have access to it. Feel free to note in the subject line who your email should be directed to.
